Loveable dog Rocky at MC-SPCA, recently diagnosed with cancer, looking for a new home

Montgomery County SPCA searches for the right family

What would you do if you had 1,416 days to live? That is the heart-breaking question the staff at Montgomery County SPCA had to ask resident Rocky recently. Rocky is a mixed breed dog that has long been a favorite of the staff and volunteers at MCSPCA during his stay, due to his energetic nature and positivity.

"This week, we received the unfortunate news that a tumor that was removed from Rocky has come back positive for cancer," said Michael Buckley, Interim Executive Director of the MCSPCA. "Rocky has been diagnosed with Keloidal Fibrosarcoma, and has been given an estimated survival time of 2-3 years. We were all shocked to hear it, but it made us work harder than ever to find the right family for this wonderful dog. He deserves a loving home for these remaining years."

Buckley explained that since the tumor is only a grade one, Rocky's time with his new family could be longer, and it is very unlikely the tumor will grow in other places. The tumor most likely will grow back in the original area and will require continued surgeries to remove it when it does come back.

The staff circulated a memo with an imagined response from Rocky to his news. "1,416 days?!

That is like 9,912 dog days, I could do so much! I could go for a long walk or go for a car ride to get a hamburger and go for another walk! I have endless energy, so I really like going for walks. Make more friends! I would really like to have a dog friend to play with, I bet I could make a lot of friends in all that time! But that still leaves me with so many days! Maybe my walks could turn into hikes, or boat rides? I have never been on a boat, but maybe I will love it! The world is just a beautiful place, and I want to be able to see it all!"

"More than anything, we want to see Rocky go to a good home and be loved by his new family," Buckley said. "A diagnosis like this is never easy, but Rocky is a great dog and will give a lifetime of wonderful memories to the right people. Please share Rocky's story, we want to get this loving boy into a home as soon as possible!"

People who are interested in meeting Rocky can get in touch with the Montgomery County SPCA at 518.842.8050, to set up a time to visit the shelter. A full list of the adoptable pets can be found online at www.mc-sPCA.org

Montgomery County SPCA is searching for the right family to help Rocky enjoy his remaining nearly 10,000 dog days.

Holy Family Parish hosting open houses

Open houses will feature traditional Catholic music school for area youth

Holy Family Parish in Little Falls is offering The Chant Schola, a traditional Catholic music school for area children. Classes will begin in September and run through May and are free and available to Holy Family Parish families as well as children from other parishes.

Open Houses/Registration Days will be held Saturday, Aug. 7, and Saturday, Sept. 4, both from 9 to 10 a.m. at Holy Family Parish, 763 Main Street, Little Falls. Colleen Rockwell, the Chant school instructor, will talk about her teaching methods and explain how children can be inspired to learn and appreciate sacred music and liturgy of the Catholic church. The registration deadline is Sunday, Sept. 5. Parents can sign up at the Open Houses or register online at holylittlefalls.org. The registration deadline is Sunday, Sept. 5.

The Little Chant Schola is specifically for four and five year-old-children and will meet from 9 to 9:45 a.m. The Chorister Schola is a music program for children ages six to 11 and will meet from 10 to 11 a.m. Classes for both programs will meet every Saturday, starting Sept. 18 and end on May 14. The Chant Schola is a yearly program. Holy Family also welcomes families to utilize and wait in the Parish gym while students are in class.

Holy Family's two music programs, under the pastoral leadership of Father Brian Slezak, are set up to teach children—throughout their spiritual formative years, how to properly chant the liturgy of both the Novus Ordo and Extraordinary Form Masses. Through preparatory vocal training, general musicianship exercises and classroom choral practice, the students will acquire valuable musical skills, which will both inspire them to participate more fully in the celebration of the Mass and will help to foster a deeper devotional prayer life at home. Children will sing, play games and enjoy socializing and sharing with their peers in a relaxed setting.

Instructor Colleen Rockwell is a well-trained and experienced professional in the field of both education and Gregorian Chant. After studying and receiving her degree in vocal performance, she spent many years as a Chant Choral member and Cantor within the Albany Diocese. Mrs. Rockwell also founded the Chant School for families and children of the Latin Mass in Troy.

Paw's Corner

Why the U.S. Ban on dog imports?

Dear Paw's Corner: I've been working for months to purchase a purebred dog located in Ukraine. Today, the transaction was put on hold by the breeder, who said that dog imports are being banned by the U.S. What is going on? -- Nadiya in NYC

Dear Nadiya: What happened is that dogs are being imported into the U.S. with rabies certificates that are fraudulent. After at least 450 imported dogs were found to have fake certificates, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention took action in June and temporarily banned the import of dogs from more than 100 countries with a high rabies risk, including Ukraine, for at least one year.

According to the CDC's official notice, in 2020 it identified a significant increase in the number of imported dogs that were denied entry into the U.S. from high-risk countries. Due to reduced flight schedules, dogs denied entry are facing longer wait times to be returned to their country of departure, leading to illness and even death.

Why did the number of fraudulent rabies certificates rise so quickly? In a word, the pandemic. During lockdown, demand for dogs (and cats) soared. Worried about the risk of animals being abandoned when their owners went back to the office, many shelters drastically raised fees and other requirements for adoption. Demand for imported dogs rose.

Unfortunately, there are no options for those who intend to purchase or adopt a dog from one of these countries. If you try to import the dog anyway, or even hand-carry it across the border, it will be denied entry and shipped back home at your expense. It's a bummer, but necessary to reduce the risk of rabies spreading in the U.S.

*For a map showing banned countries, go to www.statista.com and search for "CDC bans dog imports." To read the official notice, go to www.cdc.gov and search for "high-risk dog ban."

Now here's a tip

by JoAnn Derson

- Keep a pretty basket by your front door for anything you need to take along when you leave. This can be store returns, backpacks, exercise gear for the gym, your sunglasses, whatever. When you leave the house, check the basket!
- "Necklaces can be stored together without tangling if you thread each one through a straw. You can cut the straw to a shorter length for choker-length necklaces or bracelets. No knots!" – I.A. in Arizona

- If you have a little bit of touchup paint left in your gallon can, transfer it to a mason jar. Write the exact color and brand on the lid, it will be much easier to store.
- "Our basement was dark and a little claustrophobic. My husband painted it a lovely sunny yellow and that helped, but it needed something else. I took a photo of the spectacular view at our son's house in Montana, and had the photo blown up. We mounted it on the wall with some dummy curtains! It's perfect, and it reminds me of him." – R.W. in New York

- Need to chill a bottle of wine quickly? Wet a kitchen towel, then wrap it around the wine. Twist the ends to secure and put the whole thing in the freezer for 30 minutes.

- Great ways to remove stuck labels: nail polish remover (NOT for use on plastics), WD-40 oil, soaking in hot water, rubbing alcohol.

Herkimer College announces new mission, vision statement as first step in developing a new strategic plan

The Herkimer County Community College board of trustees has approved new mission and vision statements for the College, as part of an ongoing strategic planning process.

The statements, which were approved by the board at its June 28 meeting, are as follows:

Mission Statement: Herkimer College's mission is to provide dynamic educational programs and services in an inclusive, engaging community where all learners have the opportunity to grow and succeed.

Vision Statement: Herkimer College will be the college of choice, delivering an innovative, transformative student experience inspired by a new generation.

The College maintains a comprehensive and ongoing process of institutional planning and assessment to maintain its own expected outcomes for excellence.

The new mission and vision statements were developed through a collaborative, inclusive process that began at the start of the Spring 2021 semester. An Institutional Effectiveness (IE) Planning Committee was responsible for creating the new statements, with input from faculty, staff and students.

The IE Planning Committee is chaired by Mary Ann Carroll, associate dean of academic affairs for assessment and institutional effectiveness, and its members represent several college stakeholder groups.

Taylor Listovitch '21, president of the Student Government Association and student trustee for the 2020-21 academic year, was also included as a committee member during the spring semester. The Committee is consulting with the Society for College and University Planning (SCUP) throughout the process.

With new mission and vision statements in place, the IE Planning Committee will begin working on the strategic plan goals, objectives and action items, with input from various stakeholder groups. The finalized plan will go before the College's board of trustees for approval by the end of the Fall 2021 semester. Once approved, the plan will be publicized and prepared for implementation during the Spring 2022 semester, for full adoption by Fall 2022.

Moving forward, the mission and vision statements, along with the strategic plan, will be reviewed and revised on a five-year cycle.

"The revised mission and vision statements provide critical guiding principles for our institutional planning," said President Cathleen McColgin. "Our vision for Herkimer College is progressive, and I believe it provides us with the inspiration and adaptability for an exciting future."

Strange but true

by Lucie Winborne

• In the 1880s, businessman LaMarcus Thompson was so upset over the temptations presented by saloons and brothels that he decided to clean up what he viewed as one of America's most immoral places—New York's Coney Island. To that end he built the country's first roller coaster in a bid to give folks some good, clean fun well away from sleazier pursuits.

• Flamingos bend their legs at the ankle, not the knee. Their knees are closer to the body and covered by feathers.

• The world's largest waterfall, in the Denmark Strait between Iceland and Greenland, is underwater.

• Dunce caps used to be a sign of intelligence. Thirteenth-century philosopher John Duns Scotus believed that a pointed cap helped spread knowledge from the tip to the brain, and his followers proudly wore them as badges of honor. A few hundred years later, when his ideas became less popular, the meaning of the Dunce cap was turned on its head, becoming a joke that led to its less flattering association.

• About a month after its dedication, the Statue of Liberty became a working lighthouse for 16 years.

• When Benjamin Franklin designed the first U.S. penny in 1787, it was emblazoned not with E Pluribus Unum, but "Mind Your Business."

• The tongue of a blue whale can weigh as much as an elephant.

Thought for the Day: "The happiness of your life depends upon the quality of your thoughts: therefore, guard accordingly, and take care that you entertain no notions unsuitable to virtue and reasonable nature." – Marcus Aurelius

Go green with personal grooming

Cycling to work, bringing a reusable grocery tote to the store and choosing organic products are a few of the many ways people have accepted the mission to reduce the impact their daily living has on the planet. Great initiatives have been borne out of a desire to be more eco-friendly. Indeed, eco-friendly living can extend to all parts of one's lifestyle, including personal grooming.

Small changes in daily grooming habits can benefit the planet in myriad ways. And keeping clean and looking good while protecting the planet is simpler than one may think.

Save water

Water is an essential component of many grooming techniques, so making an effort to conserve water is a good place to begin making some eco-friendly changes. Invest in a low-flow showerhead and make a concerted effort to take shorter showers. Water and energy can be wasted when taking a bath, so limit those in favor of showers. If you choose to take a bath, don't fill the tub and consider using old bath water for other purposes, such as watering houseplants or the garden. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency reports that Americans use approximately nine billion gallons of water every day to take care of their yards. Using old bathwater can reduce that number. When washing your face or brushing your teeth, turn off the faucet in between scrubbing and rinsing.

Reduce reliance on single-use plastics

Replace single-use items with others that are more environmentally friendly. Instead of disposable razors, purchase an electric razor or one that has changeable head inserts on a reusable handle. Eco-friendly toothbrushes made of bamboo can help reduce reliance on plastics.

Buy locally made products

Opt for soaps and shampoos made from natural ingredients by local companies. The further the country of production, the more fuel and other resources necessary to get the product into your home. Scour local farmer's markets and niche retailers in town, which often stock soaps and grooming materials made by community residents.

Read product labels

Avoid products that are made with chemicals in favor of those made from ingredients you understand. Such a decision can reduce harmful, potentially dangerous runoff that ultimately ends up in waterways. Select products that are sold in containers made from recycled materials or those that limit excessive packaging.

Eco-friendly living can be extended to personal grooming, ensuring people look good while protecting the planet at the same time.

Poland graduate helps her mother's class learn mindfulness techniques

Poland Central School District fourth-grade teacher Tracy Graulich recently utilized her daughter's expertise in mindfulness techniques as a source for her and her students to learn helpful tips for staying calm and positive.

Graulich's daughter is 2008 Poland graduate Sarahbeth Graulich, who operates her own business as a lifestyle designer, holistic health coach and reiki practitioner. Tracy Graulich invited her daughter to speak to her students via video conference on June 10, near the end of the school year, because she thought it would be beneficial to the fourth-graders in case they had any concerns about going into fifth grade.

"I am amazed at how much she impacted their young minds," Tracy Graulich said. "I cannot thank her enough for those few small tricks or suggestions that she bestowed onto them."

Sarahbeth Graulich said she talked to the students about the nervousness that comes with doing something new and how to have an easier transition into the next grade level. She also taught them a couple of practices they can use to calm their nerves if or when they arise.

"I hope they came away knowing that although newness is a part of life and it may be scary, that scared feeling doesn't have to overpower them," Sarahbeth Graulich said. "They have the power to choose how they want to react to something, and they have practices to help themselves through any nerves they may feel – that even though they don't know how something is going to turn out, they can go into it with confidence and just do their best."

Sarahbeth Graulich said she can relate to any students who might have worries about going to their next grade level.

"I was a nervous kid, especially when it came to new things, so I completely understood where they were coming from and was happy to help," Sarahbeth Graulich said. "A lot of my coaching work actually focuses on helping people understand the power of choice because it's been instrumental in the way I calm my own nerves as an adult. So, I'm grateful to have been able to bring that teaching to these students, to help them feel less nervous about new things and give them practices that can help them through the rest of their life."

Tracy Graulich's students said the experience was helpful. Students discussed techniques they learned such as focusing on their breathing, talking to new people they meet and selecting objects as mental anchors such as their hand, a bracelet, a stress ball or a pencil. Another method Sarahbeth Graulich taught students was going to their "happy place," which can be a real or imaginary location they can envision visiting to make themselves feel good, calm, safe and happy.

"Sarah taught me how to calm down better by going to my happy place, which is where I caught my first fish when I was 4 years old," fourth-grader Bradley Hoffert said.

Fourth-grader Hailey Haver said learning about having a happy place to mentally go to was beneficial to her.

"This will help me by calming down when something stressful is happening," she said.

Fourth-grader Alaina Meyer said she picked up some good tips from the experience.

"One thing that I learned was where my happy place was," Alaina said. "She has helped me by teaching me how to calm down in tough situations."

Coffee Break

Home Country
by Slim Randles

Some idiot started it,” Windy said, parking himself at the philosophy counter here at the Mule Barn truck stop. “Couldn’t hardly breathe myself this here mornin’.”

Steve and the others nodded and sipped. We all knew the topic of today’s coffee discussion: forest fires. We have one. Look out the front window where the words “open” and “café” appear to be written backwards. Look past the parking lot with its waiting pickup trucks. Look above the trees across the street above the bar ditch. The sky is a dirty red this morning, with the sun having to filter through miles of smoke that just hours ago was forest up in the mountains.

“Went off and left a fire going, I heard,” Dud said. We all shook our heads. Anyone over the age of five knew enough not to do that.

“You remember back ... oh, maybe 30 years now, Doc,” Windy said, “when that fire wiped out Billy’s old cabin at the gold claim?”

“Yes I do. Killed a bunch of deer, too. Campbell Canyon. Looks like this fire’s about in the same place.”

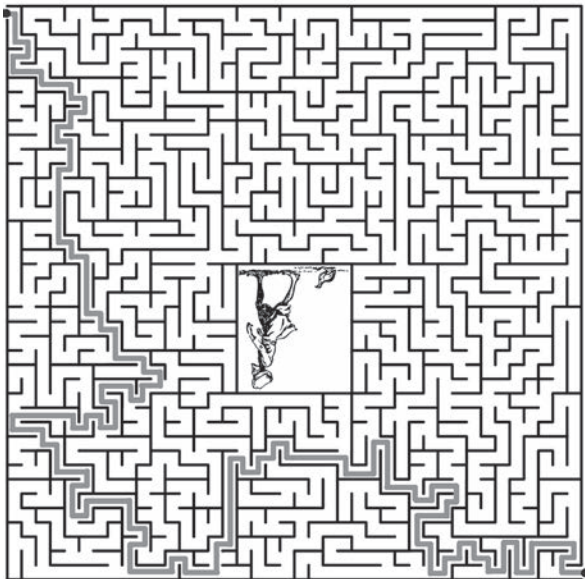

“If I was philosophatin’ I’d reckon that fire didn’t get enough trees the first time around and jest waited ‘til some more of ‘em grewed up and then come back and burned them up, too.”

“That old fire,” Doc said, “was caused by a lightning strike, Windy.”

“Oh, I know. Thass why I said it were a philosophatin’ thingie. You know, like we know it ain’t true, but mebbe worth thinkin’ ‘bout.”

We all nodded in silent agreement because what else could we do? And we really didn’t understand what he was getting at, but here came Loretta with the coffee pot, so who really cares?
