FORT PLAIN

CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

Capital Project Underway:

With the Governor’s announcement that school buildings are closed for the remainder of the 2019-2020 year, we’re able to accelerate the timeline for the capital project. You may have noticed that work at the Jr/Sr High School is already underway. In the coming weeks, you will begin to see work on the track and lower driveway of the Jr/Sr High School.

School Budget Vote: This year’s school budget and board of education election will take place on June 9, 2020, exclusively by absentee ballot due to the COVID-19 public health crisis. Qualified voters will automatically be sent an absentee ballot with a postage paid return envelope. Anyone who meets the definition of qualified voter, but does not receive an absentee ballot, should contact District Clerk Rebecca Smith by email at becky.smith@fortplain.org to have one sent out. Qualified voters are defined as U.S. citizens who are 18 years or older and have lived in the district for at least 30 days prior to the date of the vote.

PreK and Kindergarten Registration: Registration is now open for incoming PreK students and incoming Kindergarten students who did not attend this year’s PreK program. Registration appointments will be scheduled, to manage social distancing and adhere to the CDC recommendations for safety. To begin the process, visit the school website at www.fortplain.org and follow the link to the registration form. Once the form has been submitted, you will be contacted to set up a registration appointment, for the adult only. Before scheduling your appointment, please be sure that you will be prepared to bring:

- *Birth certificate for the child
- *Any court documents regarding custody
- *Proof of district residency (mortgage statement, signed rent/lease agreement with full address listed, utility bill or government pay stub)
- *immunization record
- *Name, address and phone number for three emergency contacts for the child

Please note: there are limited spots in PreK because of state education department regulations. Registration does not guarantee enrollment. If the number of registrations exceeds 36 students, then a random lottery will be held on July 10th, to select the students who will be enrolled. Parents will be notified of their child’s enrollment status on that day.

Retirees Honored: The district has many long-time employees who are retiring at the end of this school year, or this summer. Together, they represent over 200 years of service to the Fort Plain school system! Each of these amazing people has made the school their family, and impacted the daily lives of so many students. Their experience and dedication will be greatly missed. Please join us in thanking and congratulating:

Pete DiBiase, Music Teacher	32 years
Pam Kuntzch, Elementary Kitchen	30 years
Laura Dillman, Teacher Aide	30 years
Garth Eggleston, Buildings & Grounds	28 years
Tom Hajczewski, Bus Garage	28 years
Mark Hisert, Buildings & Grounds	26 years

Best wishes to them all, as they embark on the next phases of their lives!

4th Graders Study Conductivity: Fourth grade students received a special workshop in March, about electricity and conductivity. The fourth graders were visited by Canajoharie High School’s computer science students. The high school group showed our students how to use a science kit called “Makey Makey.” It allows kids to turn everyday objects into computer touch pads. Using common items such as playdoh, wires and paper clips, the students made working controllers. Next, they learned how bananas can serve as electricity conductors, and used them to power a piano keyboard. Finally, the class itself became an electrical conductor as electricity traveled from person to person and set off the piano keyboard. “The fourth graders have been learning about electricity and conductivity, and this workshop helped bring their studies to life,” said Technology Integration Specialist Matt Heiser. Our students had fun learning and really appreciated all that the Canajoharie HS students had to teach them.

Senators introduce Emergency Health Care Guarantee Act

WASHINGTON, D.C. – On May 15, Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-VT) introduced the Health Care Emergency Guarantee Act (HCEGA) to eliminate all out-of-pocket health costs for every person in America during the COVID-19 crisis. Senators Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY), Edward Markey (D-MA), Elizabeth Warren (D-MA), Cory Booker (D-NJ), Jeff Merkley (D-OR) and Kamala Harris (D-CA) co-sponsored the legislation.

"During this public health crisis, we must make sure that everyone in America is able to receive all of the medical care they need, regardless of their income, immigration status or insurance coverage. No one in this country should be afraid to go to the doctor because of the cost – especially during a pandemic. The American people deserve an emergency healthcare response that is simple, straightforward, comprehensive and cost-effective," said Sanders. "We should empower Medicare to pay all of the medical bills of the uninsured and the under-insured – including prescription drugs – for the duration of the coronavirus pandemic. When so many people in this country are struggling economically and terrified at the thought of becoming sick, the federal government has a responsibility to take the burden of healthcare costs off the backs of the American people. The legislation we are introducing today does just that."

New polling reveals overwhelming enthusiasm for Sanders' proposal. According to Data for Progress, 73% of American voters support Medicare covering all out-of-pocket health expenses during this emergency, including 58% of Republicans. In comparison, 55% backed a separate proposal to cover the cost of insurance premiums through COBRA, a federal program that allows those who have lost their jobs to temporarily retain their former employers' health insurance coverage. When presented with evidence that Sanders' emergency Medicare proposal is significantly less expensive despite covering millions more people, 61% preferred Sanders' approach versus 14% who backed COBRA subsidies.

Sanders has previously argued that proposals to expand COBRA benefits with taxpayer subsidies would provide insurance corporations with hundreds of billions of dollars in windfall profits, but do nothing to cover those who had already lacked employer-provided insurance, or those who continue to be deterred from seeking medical assistance due to high deductibles, which require roughly $1,800 on average in annual out-of-pocket spending before private insurance coverage kicks in.

Sanders' legislation, in contrast, would simply leverage the existing Medicare payment infrastructure to affordably and efficiently pay all costs of treatment for the uninsured, and cover all out-of-pocket costs such as copayments and deductibles for those who already have public or private insurance. The bill also halts medical debt collections, prohibits private insurance companies from increasing cost-sharing and requires ongoing data collection and weekly reporting on health disparities related to COVID-19. The legislation would be effective until a COVID-19 vaccine is widely available to the public.

"Healthcare is a right, not a privilege," said Gillibrand. "The COVID-19 pandemic has made clear that every individual needs access to affordable healthcare, and the Health Care Emergency Guarantee Act would cover everyone's out-of-pocket healthcare expenses during this emergency, regardless of insurance status. I am proud to partner with Senator Sanders and my colleagues to introduce this important legislation because we need to guarantee treatment and care to every individual American in order to safely reopen our economy."

"As the nation continues to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic, it is critical that all families have access to the healthcare they need, without having to worry about out-of-pocket costs," said Booker. "This legislation will ensure medical debt and healthcare costs aren't barriers for those seeking care. This is especially important for low-income communities, communities of color and immigrant communities, who face greater health inequities and are disproportionately impacted by COVID-19."

"No American should ever go broke paying for medical care – especially not during a public health emergency," said Warren. "With families struggling to make ends meet now more than ever, I'm glad to partner with Senator Sanders on a bill to eliminate out-of-pocket costs for necessary healthcare and halt medical debt collections during this economic crisis."

"Americans shouldn't worry about whether they can afford treatment if they come down with the coronavirus," said Markey. "They shouldn't worry about bankruptcy caused by medical bills or out-of-pocket costs. Congress has taken key steps to support our economy and our healthcare providers, but we must do more to protect all Americans in this time of crisis."

"No family should go bankrupt because they had the misfortune of getting sick – especially as our nation continues to grapple with a dangerous pandemic," said Merkley. "In a pandemic, every one of us is better off if someone who's sick can go to the doctor and get care as soon as they need it. The time is now for Congress to eliminate out-of-pocket health costs for essential care and halt the collection of medical debts, to help everyone get the care they need and to help our country get through this pandemic."

"The COVID-19 pandemic has placed Americans under tremendous stress," said Harris. "On top of wondering how they will pay rent and put food on the table, paying for medical treatment if they get sick should not be another worry for families. I am proud to join my colleagues to introduce this legislation to protect patients from cost barriers to the medical care they need to stay healthy."

Sanders' bill enjoys the endorsement of 32 national organizations.

SOCKED IN! Visibility is zero. Can you guide the small plane through the maze of clouds to a safe landing at the airport pictured above?

Junior Whirl

by Charles Barry Townsend

Illustrated by David Coulson

A WORD BRIDGE!

The bridge above contains 10 supporting words. We give you the first letter of each word plus plenty of hints:

1. A family relation.
2. Type of onion.
3. A free-for-all fight.
4. A snack or light meal.
5. A lyric poem.
6. A wooden church bench.
7. A clever, witty remark.
8. A picture puzzle.
9. A short performance.
10. A sailor.

LUCKY SEVENS! Professor Flunkum wants you to make up a math problem using seven 7's and one minus sign to arrive at the answer "7." You have seven minutes to solve this one.

Answer: $7.777 - .777 = 7.$

CHAIN REACTION! Take the seven letters printed below our diagram and place them in the circles so that eight four-letter words can be read, top to bottom, along the connecting lines. All the words will begin with the letter in the top circle.

Answers: Top to bottom: Lack, lace, lane, lank, line, link, lick, lice.

Answers: 1. Kin. 2. Leek. 3. Melee. 4. Nosh. 5. Ode. 6. Pew. 7. Quip. 8. Rebus. 9. Skit. 10. Tar.

Legislature must jumpstart New York’s economy

A legislative column by Assemblyman Robert Smullen (R, C-Meco)

As New York State begins the process of re-opening certain regions, there is also talk of re-convening the State Legislature. If and when the Legislature returns, either virtually or back in Albany, jumpstarting our state’s economy should be one of our top priorities.

The COVID-19 health crisis has impacted the U.S. more severely than any other country around the globe. And with more than 300,000 confirmed cases, New York State has paid a high price in the number of people infected and the tragedy of lives lost.

To help contain the spread of the virus, thousands of businesses were required to close by the state. From farms to factories, and every business in between, employers and employees did their civic duty in the name of protecting public health and safety. The economic and individual costs have been staggering, and now those same businesses and employees deserve every bit of assistance the state government can provide to get them up and running again.

Decisive steps must be taken by our state to facilitate our region-by-region re-opening and recovery. To that end, the Assembly Republican Conference has put together an economic plan to assist New York’s working men and women whose small businesses are our best job creators.

Our “Jumpstart New York” initiative provides a blueprint for economic relief in the short term and much-needed stability in the long term. Through federal and state actions, the plan offers financial relief and protections to small businesses and their employees. It removes costly regulatory burdens that stifle growth and opens doors for employers to receive critical assistance that will allow them to survive and succeed.

The plan recommends a range of state actions that can help pave the road to recovery, including creating a state business and nonprofit recovery loan program to help small businesses, and utilizing the Regional Economic Development Councils (REDCs) as vehicles for immediate economic recovery efforts instead of general economic development purposes.

In addition to cutting regulatory red tape, the plan recommends implementing the provisions of the “Small Business Emergency Recovery Act of 2020” that our conference proposed as part of the state budget. This action uses any money from unallocated state settlements to support small businesses and REDC local recovery efforts, as well as repurposing and utilizing funding for state capital programs to jumpstart the economy.

Coordinated federal actions recommended in the plan include directing future federal stimulus money to local governments and school districts to offset increased costs and the loss of tax revenue associated with COVID-19; capping unemployment insurance premiums; expanding the 0% interest rate to all Small Business Administration loans similar to the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) with interest paid by the federal government; and providing stimulus relief to sole proprietorships and LLCs that are unable to seek relief under existing programs.

The scale and severity of our current fiscal condition is unprecedented, and our people are feeling tremendous pressure. A commitment from state government to remove roadblocks that stand in the way of restoring lost jobs and creating the new jobs our economy needs will send a strong and clear message to the business community.

When the Legislature returns, we should use the proposals outlined above and all the tools at our disposal to jumpstart New York’s economic engine. Business owners and employees need to know that help is on the way. The economic health of New York State hinges on the success and prosperity of the small business community.

Assemblyman Robert Smullen represents the 118th Assembly District, which includes Hamilton and Fulton counties as well as parts of Herkimer, Oneida and St. Lawrence counties.

Meeting: Friends of Schoharie Crossing

Dear Friends and supporters of Schoharie Crossing:

We unfortunately had to cancel the meeting scheduled for Tuesday, May 26.

I wanted to reach out and provide a little information about what has been happening during this time at Schoharie Crossing. First, we continue to provide online programs and conduct interpretation as well as research.

Wade Wells, the manager of Johnson Hall, is providing interim oversight of Schoharie Crossing now that Janice has retired. Office and interpretive staff is working to provide him with information about the site, its programs, partners and other logistics associated with daily and seasonal operations. Join us in welcoming him to this role.

The grounds crew has brought back on a couple of seasonal employees, the mowing cycles have begun, and they are working on upkeep as well as some safety projects. As you may know, there are miles of tow-path trails and some really great open spaces to explore here. The boat launch remains closed due to low and unsafe water levels in the Schoharie Creek and Mohawk River. NYPA and NYS Canal Corp. have announced their re-opening plan, projecting the Mohawk Valley portion of the system to be in operation sometime between July 4 and Aug. 10. This may mean that we can get the launch open by sometime in August. But, again, we are reliant on their operation of today's canal system for appropriate water levels and current.

As you are aware, we have had to postpone or cancel several of our programs for the season. The most recent cancellation was that of the 15 Miles Paddle series. With such uncertainty about the canal system and our ability to permit gatherings, we and our partners, the Arkell at Canajoharie and Down by the River Kayak Rentals, have decided this is the most appropriate action. We'll keep you updated on all of this through emails as well as on Facebook or other social media. You can find information about the site on our NYS Parks page as well. We continue to plan for the re-opening of the Visitor Center under new guidelines. The grounds of the site remain open for use. Follow social distancing guidelines.

Since we are unable to have a Friends of Schoharie Crossing meeting on-site, the presentation of "Who Wore It Better? The Trails of Progress and the Wise Future Face of America" was held online May 26. The "future face of America" that Thomas Jefferson spoke of in 1817 when writing to New York State Governor and Erie Canal champion DeWitt Clinton was one of internal improvements that would transform the early American Republic. He congratulated Clinton on the progress of a canal "...in a state wise enough to see that the common interest is individual interest, and rich enough to pursue it." George Washington had also received encouragement from Jefferson for his Potomac Company canal project but major obstacles confronted both Clinton and Washington in their efforts to connect the eastern waters to the new westward expanding nation. Both were successful in the long run in changing the political, economic and physical landscape of the nation, just in different ways. This presentation looked at the similarities and differences between DeWitt Clinton and George Washington as they navigate the waters of internal improvements in early America.

Horticulture and landscaping operations permitted to reopen statewide

Equine operations permitted to reopen in regions that have reached state benchmarks as part of the NY Forward Plan

As New York State begins to reopen under Governor Andrew Cuomo's NY Forward plan, the horticulture industry, which includes greenhouse operations, nurseries, sod farms and arborists, has been deemed as an essential service and these businesses are now permitted to resume business statewide in all regions. In addition, landscaping businesses can continue to operate statewide, and permissible activities have been expanded to include the care and planting of grasses, sod, plants, shrubs and trees and the mulching, trimming and removal of these items. These businesses, which are considered low-risk, must create a plan to reopen safely using guidance from the Non-Food Related Agriculture Summary Guidelines to protect public health.

State Ag Commissioner Richard A. Ball said, "As New York begins to slowly bring business back online, the horticulture and floriculture industry – which are important to the agricultural economy – are permitted to open across the state. This includes greenhouses and nurseries, even if they are not selling food-producing plants. Our equine businesses have also been permitted to resume day-to-day operations on a regional basis. All of our businesses must adhere to the designated standards, have a plan for how to open safely, and those new measures need to be in place to protect employees and consumers."

In addition, gardening is also allowed statewide. This includes the cultivation of flowers, vegetables, herbs, fruit, trees, shrubs and more at home and in community settings and locations.

Equine operations are permitted to reopen as part of Phase 1 of the NY Forward plan, and only in regions that have reached the state's benchmarks and the proper criteria for reopening. Equine operations include activities such as the breeding, boarding, exercise and transport of horses, riding personal or for-hire horses at facilities and the oversight or instruction of riders at the operation. Equine operations must also follow the Non-Food Related Agriculture Summary Guidelines and Read and Affirm Detailed Guidelines for Non-food Agriculture.

Questions should be directed to the respective Regional Control Room at esd.ny.gov/nyforward-faq. For more information on NY Forward, visit forward.ny.gov. For help determining whether or not your business is eligible to reopen, use the reopen lookup tool, found at businessexpress.ny.gov/app/nyforward.

For the latest information and guidance on ag industry operations, visit agriculture.ny.gov/coronavirus.

New local history book - Fort Plain, Fork Plank, Fort Rensselaer: The Revolutionary War Forts of Canajohary

The Fort Plain Museum recently published a new local history book, Fort Plain, Fork Plank, Fort Rensselaer: The Revolutionary War Forts of Canajohary by Wayne Lenig. Lenig is a Fellow of the New York State Archaeological Association, vice-president of the Van Epps-Hartley Chapter NYSAA, archaeological curator and vice-chairman of the Fort Plain Museum Board of Trustees, and Research Associate in Archaeology at the New York State Museum.

A great deal of confusion has developed regarding the historical identities of Fort Plain, Fort Plank and Fort Rensselaer. This book reviews and analyzes the published secondary sources in chronological order to gain an understanding of when and how misconceptions developed. Following that review are chapters on the archaeology and historical research from primary sources, placing the final four years of the Revolutionary War on the New York frontiers into the broad fabric of contemporary events. A fourth chapter reviews the evidence for an earlier Colonial Anglo-American fort on the site of Fort Plain. This is the most comprehensive study of the most important American outpost during the final four years of the War for Independence.

The book is 8.5 by 11 with over 260 glossy pages with color images and maps. To order the book, please visit the museum's online book store at <https://fortplainmuseum.square.site/> or email info@fortplainmuseum.org. 100% of the book proceeds go to the museum for exhibits and education programing.

Gloversville Walmart COVID-19 drive-thru testing site

A COVID-19 drive-thru testing site is in the parking lot of the Walmart store located 329 S. Kingsboro Ave. Ext., Gloversville. The site is supported by Walmart, Quest Diagnostics and state and local officials, testing adults who meets CDC and state and local guidelines on who should be tested, including first responders, healthcare providers and others with symptoms of COVID-19 and those in high risk groups without symptoms. Note: testing is not available inside Walmart stores.

"Walmart is part of the community, and we are proud to help support the expansion of COVID-19 testing in Gloversville during this unprecedented time," said Jason Klipa, Walmart Public Affairs Director for New York. "We are grateful to our associates who keep our stores running, our pharmacists who support these testing sites and to Quest Diagnostics and local officials as we work together to open the site and help our community."

Details regarding the testing sites:

- The site is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays weekly from 7 a.m. - 9 a.m., weather permitting.

- Testing is for adults who meet CDC and state and local guidelines on who should be tested, including first responders, healthcare providers and others with symptoms of COVID-19 and those in high risk groups without symptoms.

- Individuals must be 18 years and older.

- The testing site will require an appointment through Quest's MyQuest™ online portal and app, www.MyQuest-COVIDTest.com, which will screen and schedule appointments for those individuals that meet medical eligibility for the testing sites.

- Once on site, those being tested will need to wear a mask and stay in their cars for verification of eligibility criteria, ID check and self-administered test. For the safety of all those on-site, the test site is not available to those who walk up.

- The site will use a self-administered nasal swab test that will allow those being tested to swab their own nose onsite while in their vehicles, observed by a trained medical volunteer to ensure the sample is taken correctly, and drop the sealed sample into a container on their way out of the drive-thru site.

- Quest Diagnostics will handle processing test samples and communicating results to those tested and applicable departments of health.

- Any questions regarding testing and appointments, call Quest's dedicated COVID-19 line at 866.448.7719, Monday - Friday, 7 a.m. - 7 p.m.

- The site will be staffed by Walmart pharmacists and associates.

- While individuals who are tested are awaiting results, follow CDC guidelines and take steps to help prevent the virus from spreading to people in your home and community.

Fort Plain resident earns degree from WGU

SALT LAKE CITY – David Thomas of Fort Plain has earned a MBA, Healthcare Management, degree from Western Governors University (WGU). The online, non-profit university has graduated over 178,000 students from across the country since its inception in 1997.

Since Jan. 2, WGU has awarded 6,313 undergraduate and 4,975 graduate degrees. Graduates' areas of study include business, K-12 education, information technology and health professions, including nursing. The average time to graduation for those earning a bachelor's degree was two years, three months, while the average time for graduate programs was one year, six months. The average age of those who graduated is 38 years old.

WGU pioneered competency-based education, which measures learning rather than time spent in class. Designed to meet the needs of working adults, courses allow students to study and learn on their own schedules with individualized, one-to-one faculty support.

Twenty warning signs of stress

Stress affects so many people and infiltrates so many parts of daily life that it can be tempting to write it off as harmless or just a normal part of being human. But the negative effects of stress are significant, and persons who can recognize that are in a good position to find healthy ways to cope with their stress.

The American Psychological Association notes that stress can take a considerable toll on a person's mind and body. Chronic stress, which is a constant stress experienced over a prolonged period of time, can increase the risk of hypertension, heart attack or stroke. In addition, the APA notes that chronic stress causes the muscles in the body to be in an essentially constant state of guardedness, which can potentially contribute to tension-type headache and migraines. And these are just two of the many ways the body is adversely affected by stress, which the APA says also has been linked to problems with the gastrointestinal, nervous and reproductive systems.

Since stress can contribute to such unpleasant and potentially life-threatening side effects, it's important that people from all walks of life learn to recognize the warning signs of stress. The American Institute of Stress lists the following among its 50 most common signs and symptoms of stress.

1. Frequent headaches, jaw clenching or pain

2. Gritting, grinding teeth
3. Stuttering or stammering
4. Tremors, or trembling of lips or hands
5. Neck ache, back pain and/or muscle spasms
6. Light headedness, faintness and/or dizziness
7. Ringing, buzzing or "popping sounds"
8. Frequent blushing or sweating
9. Cold or sweaty hands and feet
10. Dry mouth and/or problems swallowing
11. Frequent colds, infections and/or herpes sores
12. Rashes, itching, hives and/or "goose bumps"
13. Unexplained or frequent "allergy" attacks
14. Heartburn, stomach pain and/or nausea
15. Excess belching and/or flatulence
16. Constipation, diarrhea, loss of control
17. Difficulty breathing and/or frequent sighing
18. Sudden attacks of life-threatening panic
19. Chest pain, palpitations and/or rapid pulse
20. Frequent urination

Stress is a part of daily life. Learning to recognize signs of stress can help people overcome it and reduce their risk for various conditions.
