WHY SHOULD I Invest In Winter Tires?

TREAD COMPOUND
Specialized rubber compounds remain pliable in subfreezing temperatures, allowing a winter tire's tread to conform to the micro- and macro-texture of the surface, whether it's clear road, packed snow or ice.

TREAD DEPTH
Winter tires typically feature deeper initial tread depth than their all-season counterparts. The extra depth allows the tire to process a larger volume of snow, essentially taking bigger "bites" for traction.

TREAD
PATTERN
Wide, circumferential and lateral grooves evacuate water and slush, and can process a larger volume of snow. Intricate sipes hold snow within the tread for snow-to-snow traction, and also create thousands of biting edges to provide grip.

Emergency food providers to continue to deliver NY ag products to families in need

Governor Andrew M. Cuomo recently announced an additional $10 million is being dedicated to the Nourish New York program, bringing the total funding dedicated to the program to $35 million. The funding will allow NY's emergency food providers to continue to purchase surplus products from NY farmers and dairy manufacturers and deliver it to families in need through the end of the year, including during the holiday season, which can be a challenging time for families. Nourish NY was first announced by the governor in April in response to the financial hardships NY's dairy farmers were facing with the loss of key markets and the significant, increased demand food banks were seeing as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. Since the program started, more than 16 million pounds of dairy, fresh fruits and vegetables, meats and more have been purchased and provided to 823,883 households.

"The pandemic has been difficult for all of us, including our agricultural community and the families they feed. The Nourish New York program has successfully bridged the gap between our families, our food banks, and our farmers," Gov. Cuomo said. "Still, there is a very clear need in our communities. By extending the Nourish New York program and providing another $10 million to our regional food banks and local food providers, we can continue to support and help New Yorkers put food on the table while ensuring an economic benefit to our farmers through the holiday season, which can be a challenging time for families."

Funding for this second round of the program is being provided from the federal Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act. It will be reallocated to food banks and emergency food providers through existing contracts extended through Dec. 31. Emergency food providers can spend the money allocated to them by:

- Setting up food drive-thru events/giveaways (guidance available at tinyurl.com/y6sbyro7)

- Distributing dairy vouchers that can be redeemed in grocery stores for products like cheese, yogurt, milk, sour cream and butter throughout the state

- Purchasing products directly from NY dairy/food manufacturers for their feeding programs

Since its launch, the $25 million Nourish NY initiative has supported 3,438 food distributions, providing dairy, such as milk, yogurt, cheese, cottage cheese and produce, meat, seafood, eggs and more to 823,883 households. Through the food banks' purchases, 4,140 farms have been impacted, relieving farmers from having to dispose of surplus milk and providing growers with a place to sell their produce. The $25 million investment was on track to be spent by the end of October.

As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, NY food banks have seen a dramatic increase in demand, in some regions up to 200%, as many New Yorkers struggle to put food on the table. At the same time, NY's farmers and producers have faced their own unprecedented, extreme financial difficulties. Many temporarily lost up to 50% of their markets through the closure of schools and restaurants.

Chicken Spaghetti

A chicken in every pot! I'm not running for elected office — but if I was, this is the dish I'd be sharing on the campaign trail. It would ensure a landslide victory for me!

1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 full cup diced cooked chicken breast
1/2 cup (one 2.5-ounce jar) sliced mushrooms, drained
1/4 cup sliced ripe olives
1 3/4 cups (one 15-ounce can) Italian stewed tomatoes, undrained
1 (10 3/4-ounce) can reduced-fat cream of chicken soup
2 cups hot cooked spaghetti, rinsed and drained

1/4 cup grated reduced-fat Parmesan cheese

1. In a large skillet sprayed with olive oil-flavored cooking spray, saute onion for 5 minutes or just until tender. Add chicken, mushrooms, olives, stewed tomatoes and chicken soup. Mix well to combine. Stir in spaghetti.

2. Lower heat and simmer for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. When serving, top each dish with 1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese. Makes 4 (1 1/2 cups each) servings.

DMV urges motorists to prepare for winter driving conditions

The New York State DMV and the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee (GTSC) offer tips to help New Yorkers winterize their vehicles and prepare to drive in more challenging weather conditions. Drivers are also reminded that they can now install snow tires on their vehicles. Under state law, snow tires can be used from Oct. 16 - April 30.

"We cannot control the weather, but we can control how prepared we are to drive in winter conditions," said Mark J.F. Schroeder, DMV commissioner and GTSC chair. "Following a few simple tips like driving slow, making sure your lights are clear and not covered with ice or snow and having ample windshield washer fluid, for example, will help keep you and others safe on the roads."

Before driving, GTSC recommends these tips:

- Check tire tread
- Fill the gas tank
- Clear/clean all lights and windows
- Fill the windshield washer reservoir
- Remove all snow and ice including on top of the vehicle
- Ensure the vehicle's heater and defroster are working properly

• Make sure the recommended amount of antifreeze is in the radiator

• Get familiar with a new vehicle before driving in harsh weather conditions

When ready to drive, follow these tips:

- Warm up the car so the defroster clears the windows.
- Turn on headlights whenever windshield wipers are on. State law makes this mandatory.
- Do not exceed the speed limit and always adjust speed to the road conditions.
- Leave plenty of room between vehicles.
- Don't try to pass or weave in and out of traffic. All drivers must be prepared to react if other drivers start to slide.
- Do not drive during ice or snowstorms unless it is necessary.

• When sleet, freezing rain or snow begin to fall, remember that bridges, ramps and overpasses will freeze first. Be aware that slippery spots may remain after snow is removed.

The National Highway Safety Administration also offers winter driving tips and suggests keeping these supplies in the vehicle:

- Snow shovel, broom and ice scraper
- Abrasive material such as sand or kitty litter, in case the vehicle gets stuck in the snow
- Jumper cables, flashlight and warning devices such as flares and emergency markers
- Blankets
- A cell phone with charger, water, food and any necessary medicine (for longer trips or when driving in lightly populated areas)

Motorists are urged to check 511NY before traveling. The free travel information system is accessible 24 hours per day by calling 511 or visiting 511NY.org. The service provides real-time traffic conditions and links to information about air, rail and transit services.

The 511NY website features a winter travel advisory system, with real-time travel reports and a color-coded map indicating which state roads are snow covered, ice covered, wet, dry or closed to help drivers determine if travel is advisable. The system provides updated snow and ice conditions for interstates and other heavily traveled roads, as reported by snowplow operators.

For more information about DMV, visit dmv.ny.gov, or follow the DMV conversation online on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

As Vets Day approaches, Wreaths Across America utilizes technology to help fulfill mission

COLUMBIA FALLS, ME — Wreaths Across America (WAA), is the non-profit organization best known for placing veterans' wreaths on the headstones of our nation's fallen at Arlington National Cemetery. However, today the organization, in total, places more than 2 million sponsored veterans' wreaths at over 2,200 participating locations nationwide. In order to achieve this mission, in this challenging year, the organization had to be open to new approaches and partnered with generous organizations willing to share new technologies while helping achieve our ultimate goal of fulfilling the mission to Remember, Honor, and Teach in part by placing veterans' wreaths at the headstones of all fallen U.S. service members.

Wreaths Across America's existing website capabilities allow for customized fundraising pages for Participating Locations and Sponsorship Groups, providing real-time information to donors and volunteers across the country. In addition, the nonprofit has focused efforts on other owned-media channels, including Wreaths Across America Radio (www.wreathsaacrossamerica.org/radio), an internet radio station bringing you a unique mix of music, interviews and entertainment designed to uplift the American spirit during these challenging times and to promote our mission to remember, honor and teach about America's veterans.

Expanding on the Teach aspect of the mission, WAA's Mobile Education Exhibit hit the road early this summer. This traveling learning experience helps live the mission to remember, honor, and teach. The expanding internal movie theater and interactive learning displays help remember the sacrifices our nation's heroes, honor living veterans and teach future generations about the price of freedom.

In the last two years, by partnering with AT&T veterans, WAA has been able to offer a pilot "Text to Donate" program that is allowing donors in several states to sponsor a veteran's wreath for a family member or loved one from the comfort and safety of their own home. By texting 20222 and a corresponding text code specific to an area cemetery, a contribution can be made over the donor's phone no matter who is their primary service carrier. All mobile users can obtain a tax receipt for donations made via text message by visiting: mobilegiving.org/tax-receipt/.

Although the use of social media has been around for some time and become a business mainstay of building a community of supporters, virtual events have also become the norm this year as many live events have had to be transformed from their original live format. These virtual events have allowed us to share a once regional concert, with our entire supporter base, removed 5k races from the bounds of a set course, offered mothers homeschooling their children the chance to share in a pledge of allegiance with their children, and expanded a local flag waving effort to the entire nation.

Some of these efforts have even spawned the need for their own new technology approaches. For example, WAA's race partner CompetitorME began utilizing an App, called RaceJoy, to help track runners and share vital information while participating in a virtual race. And while most theater chains were trying to figure out the business of survival amidst a pandemic Showcase Cinemas made community service a priority by lifting the virtual concert from the pages of Facebook to add it to their newly launched streaming service called Showcase NOW.

As you can see, no one change is helping make it through rough times. However, utilizing technology to make many small changes is helping WAA continue toward its goal of honoring and remembering as many United States service members as possible nationwide this National Wreaths Across America Day—Saturday, Dec. 19.

However, there's still more ways to help and it doesn't have a touch screen or hi-def display.... It's you!

You can sponsor a wreath for $15 at wreathsaacrossamerica.org. Each sponsorship goes toward a fresh balsam veteran's wreath that will be placed on the headstone of an American hero as we endeavor to honor all veterans laid to rest on Saturday, Dec. 19, as part of National Wreaths Across America Day. You can text WREATH22 to 20222 to sponsor a wreath for Arlington National Cemetery right from your phone.

Smullen announces funding for library improvements

Assemblyman Robert Smullen (R, C, Ref-Meco) recently announced the New York State Education Department and New York State Library Association have approved construction awards to public libraries in the 118th Assembly District. Awards are supported throughout the state by a $34 million capital fund appropriation in the state budget.

Construction awards received in district include:

- Frank J Basloe Library: $72,647 to add an ADA compliant bathroom
- Hepburn Library of Madrid: $16,388 to install a hot water heater and furnace
- CVW Long Lake Public Library: $138,647 to upgrade exterior cladding, windows and doors
- Northville Public Library: $5,265 to upgrade lighting fixtures
- Old Forge Library: $10,403 to finish the basement and add a Bilco entrance
- Town of Indian Lake Public Library: $11,766 to expand the library's entrance foyer
- Town of Inlet Public Library:

$11,489 to replace lighting fixtures and old air conditioners

- Western Town Library: $30,830 to replace the basement emergency exit

"I am happy to announce library construction awards to eight public library systems throughout the district," said Smullen. "Libraries are essential to upstate communities. Not only do they provide free broadband access to all citizens and help to count the Census, but they enrich the lives of upstate New Yorkers through knowledge. With the financial strains created by the pandemic, the priority funding for libraries, which I consider essential infrastructure, is encouraging to witness. I cannot wait to see the completed renovations and urge everyone to take advantage of the services offered by libraries."

Assemblyman Robert Smullen represents the 118th Assembly District, which includes Hamilton and Fulton counties as well as parts of Herkimer, Oneida, and St. Lawrence counties.

How to create an on-the-go handwashing kit

Fall road trip season has arrived, and it promises to be unlike any other in recent memory. The outbreak of the novel coronavirus COVID-19 has changed how people go about their daily lives, including how they travel.

Travel may involve some risk until a treatment or vaccine for COVID-19 is developed, but day trips by car are among the safer ways to get out and about and experience the majesty of nature this fall. Fall foliage and moderate temperatures make autumn an ideal time to hit the open road, and drivers can do so without sacrificing their personal safety.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends that anyone who intends to travel take certain steps to protect themselves while away from home. The CDC advises travelers to wash their hands often while traveling, but fully operational restrooms may not be easy to find while on the road, as many communities have closed such facilities in an effort to stop the spread of COVID-19. But that doesn't mean drivers and their passengers can't keep their hands clean as they take to the road this fall. An on-the-go handwashing kit that includes the following items is easy to carry and makes for an effective way to wash your hands while on the road this fall.

- Water bottle(s) with cap: Pack enough water bottles with caps to accommodate your entire traveling party.
- Antibacterial soap/hand sanitizer: The CDC advises washing hands with soap and water for at least 20 seconds after going out in public, touching surfaces frequently touched by others and/or after blowing your nose, coughing or sneezing. If you bring hand sanitizer, make sure it's at least 60 percent alcohol.
- Paper towels/wash cloths: Pack paper towels or wash cloths so you can dry your hands after washing them.
- Garbage bag: If you're visiting a park or trails, remember to bring a garbage bag along so you do not leave dirty towels or empty water bottles behind. A plastic bag from the grocery store can suffice if your traveling party is small.

The 2020 fall road trip season may differ from seasons past, but drivers can still take to the roads this autumn. Some simple safety measures, like packing an on-the-go handwashing kit, can help drivers reduce their risk of getting the COVID-19 virus without compromising the entertainment value of their trips.

Canajoharie hosts virtual Walk to Strike Out ALS in honor of Dale Erhardt

by Gary Elliott

About 20 people gathered at the Erie Canalway bike trail in Canajoharie for one of the Capital District's 19th Annual Walk to Strike Out ALS events on Saturday, Oct. 17. Due to COVID-19 concerns, instead of every walker from eastern New York gathering at Saratoga State Park, participants were asked to walk safely individually or in small groups around their neighborhood or on a favorite hiking path. The Canajoharie walk took place in honor of local ALS patient Dale Erhardt, who was diagnosed 8.5 years ago.

Proceeds from the walks benefit the St. Peter's ALS Regional Center in Albany. The center serves 17 counties in northeastern New York and is the region's only medical and counseling service devoted exclusively to the care of patients with ALS. Dale's wife, Jill C. Downes Erhardt, reported on Oct. 22 that all of the regions' various walks have collectively surpassed their goal. "Their goal was $100,000 and they posted it was surpassed! They don't have a final tally, as money keeps coming in," she said.

Jill said Dale have been attending virtual clinics from the center for several hours weekly since COVID-19 concerns began. Before the walk started, the Erhardt family showed a video, produced by the ALS center, about how the center has been caring for patients throughout the region during "these difficult days of COVID."

Jill said, "Veterans are twice as likely to get ALS as the civilian population. Nobody has figured out why."

ALS is a rare, fatal disease that attacks the body's nervous system and rapidly destroys the nerve cells that allow humans to eat, speak and move properly. Approximately 35,000 Americans suffer from ALS at any one time. There is currently no cure and little treatment.

Following the walk, Jill posted on Facebook, "What a beautiful day and a wonderful turnout for the 'virtual' 19th Annual Walk to Strike Out ALS today. My heartfelt thanks to everyone that came to join us and to everyone who has donated ... We truly appreciate all of the support we get on this journey and St. Peter's ALS Clinic is the best. 8 1/2 years and still counting."

Team Dale has participated in Strike Out ALS Walks for several years in Saratoga, Jill said.

Located at 19 Warehouse Row in Albany, the ALS Regional Center Lewis Golub MDA/ALS Clinic offers medical and emotional support, rehabilitation therapy, consultation, counseling, education and advocacy to ALS patients and their families. It also provides home visits and guidance and support via telephone to patients who are too ill or disabled to visit the center.

If you would like to support the development of future treatments and hopefully one day a cure, consider participating in the Walk to Strike Out

ALS in the future. To sign up, or for more information, visit www.walkto-strikeoutals.org.

Can Indoor Cats Skip Yearly Vaccinations?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My two cats, "Sandy" and "Frankie," are indoor cats who never go out and never even try to escape. I last took them to the vet about three years ago. A friend said I'm supposed to take them every year and get their rabies shot, but I don't see the point. If they never get out, how could they get exposed? Also, vaccinations are expensive. — Terry H., Buffalo, New York

DEAR TERRY: I know it can be tough pulling together the funds to vaccinate your pets every year, but it really is critically important that they stay up to date on their shots.

In addition to rabies vaccination — which is required by law in most municipalities — your cats need to be vaccinated against feline distemper — a group of three viruses that are easily spread (they can even be tracked into the house on your shoes) and can cause severe illness and death in cats. If your cats have never received an FLV (feline leukemia virus) vaccination, they need to be evaluated and given this shot, too.

Getting up to date on their shots gives them an umbrella of protection against these illnesses, because you never know what may happen in the future. What if they are spooked by a storm or a volley of fireworks, and dart outside? That's dangerous enough without them potentially crossing paths with an infected cat.

Call around for a better price on veterinary exams and shots. Low-cost clinics are held in many cities and counties, but you have to look online or check notices at the pet store or city hall. Community newspapers are another source to find out about these clinics.

Send your comments, questions or tips to ask@pawscorner.com.

• Remember to turn off bathroom fans after 10 minutes. In the winter, if your house is on the dry side, don't use the fan at all: Open the door so the humidity from the shower or bath reaches into the house.

• "To remove the skin from salmon, I freeze it and skin it while frozen. The skin comes off much easier, and I waste less of the fish. I buy a large piece and parcel it into several smaller pieces, since it's just me. I like salmon, and it's healthy for me!" — L.A. in Florida

• Need extra dishware or servingware for a holiday meal? Try looking at secondhand stores for large dishes, serving utensils and more. It's sometimes cheaper than getting throwaways, and it's better for the environment! You can always donate them again after the holidays.

• Here's a makeup tip from Captain Obvious: Wet your beauty blender. I didn't know this and had been using it for about a month before my sister told me. So much better! -- V.A. in Florida

• Freeze fruit that is on the verge of spoiling rather than letting it go to waste. You don't even have to use it for smoothies. Chuck a handful of frozen fruit in water or iced tea for added flavor. And it's a superb addition to fancy cocktails.

Chow Line: Frozen food safety

We bought some frozen chicken breasts that already have grill marks on them. The grill marks mean the chicken is already cooked, so I can just heat it up in the microwave, right?

Not necessarily.

While some frozen foods have the appearance of grill marks, browned breading or other signs that normally indicate that the foods have been cooked, they can still be raw and need to be fully cooked before eating. It's best to read the packaging on frozen foods before eating them to make sure you prepare them correctly. Proper preparation is key to avoiding foodborne illnesses from eating raw or undercooked foods that need to be cooked before eating.

However, a new study released last week from the USDA Food Safety and Inspection Service found that many consumers might not know how to cook frozen foods safely, which can put families at risk of developing foodborne illnesses.

The study found that 22% of participants said a not-ready-to-eat frozen chicken entrée was either cooked, partially cooked or they weren't sure that the product was, in fact, raw.

"Although some frozen products might look cooked, it is important to follow the same food safety guidelines as you would if you were cooking a fresh, raw product," the USDA said. "That includes washing your hands before food preparation and after handling raw frozen products and using a food thermometer to make sure your frozen meals reach a safe internal temperature."

This issue takes on increased significance considering that frozen food has been a big seller throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, with frozen food growth overall outpacing sales of other packaged foods and fresh foods this year, according to a recent analysis by market research firm 210 Analytics.

In fact, the frozen food market is estimated to account for $244.3 billion in 2020 and is projected to reach a value of $312.3 billion by 2025, according to market research firm MarketsandMarkets.

Many families find frozen food products to be a convenient option because children can prepare frozen meals easily on their own, the USDA said.

With that in mind, "it's especially important for children to know how to practice the necessary food safety steps needed to prepare frozen meals to avoid foodborne illness, and to help them do precooked or browned, they should be handled and prepared no differently than raw products and must be cooked. Frozen products are sometimes labeled with phrases such as "Cook and Serve," "Ready to Cook" and "Oven-Ready" to indicate they must be cooked.

• Always use a food thermometer to check the internal temperature of your frozen meat and make sure it is cooked to a safe internal temperature of 165°.

• The safe minimum cooking temperature for ground meats, including beef, pork, veal and lamb, is 160°, according to the USDA. Steak and pork can be safely cooked to 145°.

• Frozen and raw produce can also carry germs that can cause foodborne illnesses. It is important so, parents must first understand if products are raw or ready-to-eat," the USDA said.

Here are some tips from the USDA when preparing frozen foods:

• Wash your hands during and after preparing frozen food to prevent germs from transferring from your hands to your meal.

• Although frozen products might appear to be poultry products to determine whether they are safe to eat.

• All poultry dishes should be cooked to an internal temperature of 165° F to ensure they are cooked thoroughly enough to kill any pathogens that could cause a foodborne illness, according to the CDC. It's best to use a food thermometer placed in the thickest part of the chicken to to handle produce properly to prevent the spread of germs to your food and kitchen.

• Even if you are preparing a cold salad, frozen produce must be cooked first.

• Check that frozen food in your freezer has not been recalled. You can find information about recalled items at FoodSafety.gov or FoodKeeper application.

A local composting initiative has received $20,000 in grant funding that will advance its goal to provide technical assistance for organizations, municipalities and other institutions interested in designing and implementing composting programs in their communities.

The Adirondack North Country Association (ANCA), a regional economic development organization based in Saranac Lake, and the Compost for Good (CfG) initiative are recipients of a NYS Pollution Prevention Institute (NYSP2I) Community Grant. The funds will be used to develop a detailed online toolkit that will inform users about technical and economic aspects of building and operating large-scale composting systems, as well as relevant education and policy materials. AdkAction, a nonprofit that focuses on environmental and social issues in the Adirondacks, will provide administrative support for the project.

"The Compost for Good initiative will offer key educational resources and assistance as an important extension of the good work of ANCA and AdkAction in this area," said NYSP2I Director Charles Ruffing. "NYSP2I is pleased to support these efforts to decrease food wastes and increase beneficial use of these organic materials."

Hearty chili for autumn days

People choose to adhere to a vegetarian or vegan diet for various reasons. Some people avoid animal products because of ethics, while others want to control their weight with low-calorie foods. Still others may have food allergies or intolerances that make a vegetable-based diet their best option.

Cooking vegetarian or vegan can introduce a person to a wide variety of new foods and flavors. That's why even people who eat meat like to periodically experiment with vegetarian or vegan foods.

When the weather starts to cool, soups and stews become staples of many people's diets. With this recipe for "Four Bean Chili" from "Vegan Cooking for Beginners" (Publications International, Ltd.) by the PIL editors, home cooks can experiment with a meatless chili that doesn't skimp on flavor even if it isn't brimming with beef, pork or lamb.

Four Bean Chili

- Makes 8 to 10 servings
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 onion, finely chopped
- 2 medium carrots, chopped
- 1 red bell pepper, chopped
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons tomato paste
- 2 tablespoons packed dark brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons chili powder
- 2 tablespoons ground cumin
- 1 tablespoon dried oregano
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 can (28 ounces) diced tomatoes
- 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce

- Heat oil in large saucepan over medium-high heat. Add onions, carrots and bell pepper; cook and stir 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Add garlic, tomato paste, brown sugar, chili powder, cumin, oregano and salt; cook and stir 1 minute.
- Stir in tomatoes, tomato sauce, beans, broth, chiles, and chocolate; bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium; simmer 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in vinegar.
- Chili is even better served with cornbread. Make batter while the vegetables are cooking in step one and bake it while the chili is simmering.
- Cornbread
- Makes 12 servings

conceived of and designed the system. To date, it has been replicated in four additional locations – Lake Placid Central School, Hermon Dekalb Central School, the Wild Center in Tupper Lake and the Pingry School in New Jersey.

Interest in the in-vessel composter and composting in general was so strong that Culpepper opted to form an initiative with educator Katie Culpepper and ANCA Sustainability Project Coordinator Jennifer Perry to meet the growing demand for technical assistance to create composting programs for others.

"We are so appreciative of the institute's support for our community composting and education efforts," said John Culpepper, CfG's project lead. "We are passionate about helping others create a high value resource from food waste which benefits both communities and our environment."

The newly formed CfG initiative entered into a partnership earlier this year with AdkAction, which will help expand the program's reach and impact in the region. The NYSP2I grant is critical to advancing the team's efforts to identify the most effective path forward for increasing rates of composting across NYS and beyond.

AdkAction Executive Director Britta-nny Christianson said, "We are thrilled to bring the Compost for Good Project under Adk Action's umbrella and help John, Katie and Jen realize their vision to spark a composting revolution in the Adirondacks."

The toolkit will include educational materials and videos, an online calculator to determine the most affordable composting path feasible, grant resources, legislative updates, access to a design and operating manual and access to contractors. CfG staff will also be available for one-one-one consultations through tours, in-person visits or phone conversations. The toolkit will be especially helpful for organizations and municipalities to prepare for the upcoming "Food Donation and Food Scraps Recycling Law" which will require all larger-scale food waste producers to keep food waste out of landfills and thereby reduce the production of methane, a powerful greenhouse gas.

The group will begin working on the project this autumn.

"ANCA is thrilled to continue to support this project," said Perry, who serves as the project's grant manager. "It has been inspiring to watch the momentum and interest grow from the construction of the first composter six years ago."

Organizations, institutions and communities interested in learning more about the in-vessel composter or community-scale composting in general are invited to contact Jennifer Perry at jerry@adriondack.org or 518.891.6200 or John Culpepper at compostforgood-team@gmail.com.

Milepost 900. To solve this problem, recall that rate x time = distance. Let "x" be the time it takes the Seneca Streamer to reach the milepost. Then:
60( x+3) = 75x
60x + 180 = 75x
15x = 180
x = 12

Answering common questions about handwashing

Prior to 2020, people may never have imagined they would devote so much of their focus to handwashing. But handwashing took center stage in 2020, as organizations such as the World Health Organization and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention touted it as an important safety measure against the COVID-19 virus.

It's understandable to question if something as simple as handwashing can really help combat potentially deadly viruses like COVID-19. But the CDC notes that handwashing is one of the best ways people can protect themselves and their families from getting sick. Understanding just how handwashing works may help people better understand how this simple gesture can potentially save so many lives.

How does handwashing remove germs?

The CDC notes that soap and water worked into a lather trap and remove germs and chemicals from hands. Water is a vital component of handwashing, especially when it's applied to hands before soap. Water helps develop a better lather than people will get when applying soap to dry hands. That's important because a good lather forms pockets known as micelles that trap and remove germs from hands.

Why is it important to wash hands for 20 seconds?

Prior to the pandemic, many people likely had no idea that proper handwashing calls for washing hands for 20 seconds. So why so long? The CDC notes that studies have found that hands need to be scrubbed for 20 seconds in order to remove harmful germs. Washing for anything less than 20 seconds runs the risk of leaving germs on your hands.

Should I use antibacterial hand soap?

It might surprise some to learn that the CDC says antibacterial hand soap is not necessary for anyone outside of professional health care settings. Studies have found no added health benefit of using antibacterial soap as opposed to plain soap and water. So consumers should not fret if they can't find any antibacterial hand soap on their next trip to the grocery store.

Should I use warm or cold water?

According to the CDC, when combined with soap, water removes the same amount of germs whether it's warm or cold. Water's role in handwashing is to help create a lather, and lathers can be created with hot or cold water.

When should I wash my hands?

Hands should be washed any time they are visibly dirty or greasy. The CDC also recommends washing hands:

- before, during and after preparing food
- before eating
- before and after caring for someone at home who is sick with vomiting or diarrhea
- before and after treating a cut or wound
- after using the toilet
- after changing diapers or cleaning up a child who has used the toilet
- after touching an animal, animal feed or animal waste
- after handling pet food or pet treats
- after touching garbage

Handwashing is as effective as public health officials insist it is, which is why it should be a vital component of everyone's daily health care routine.

Just the facts: Dispelling common myths about glaucoma

(BPT) – Glaucoma. It's a sneaky disease that usually strikes without warning. More than three million people in the U.S. have it – but only half know they do. Left untreated, glaucoma can lead to progressive vision loss and irreversible blindness. While a diagnosis of glaucoma can be scary, much has been learned about the disease and how to manage it over the past two decades.

"Managing glaucoma starts with early detection and treatment, which is critical to preventing or slowing vision loss," said Ruth D. Williams, MD, a glaucoma specialist at the Wheaton (IL) Eye Clinic and host of the Glaucoma Research Foundation's upcoming Glaucoma Patient Summit. "Therefore, it's important for people to understand all they can about this disease. Reducing fears and improving outcomes in glaucoma start with knowing the facts."

Busting the myths about glaucoma

Approximately 90% of people with glaucoma have a form called open-angle glaucoma, which typically has no symptoms that serve as red flags. Open-angle glaucoma develops slowly and sometimes without noticeable sight loss for many years. Recognizing misconceptions about the disease can make you less vulnerable to it. Take a look at these top five myths about glaucoma, along with the straight facts.

1. Glaucoma is an "elderly person's" disease.

Though it is most prevalent in people over age 60, glaucoma strikes people of all ages, from infants to the elderly. In fact, about 1 in 10,000 babies are born with the disease. Additionally, African-Americans are at higher risk of developing glaucoma at a younger age.

2. Good vision means you don't have and cannot get glaucoma.

Perhaps the scariest aspect of glaucoma is its lack of early warning signs, particularly with open-angle glaucoma, where vision change is often gradual and peripheral vision is affected first. Even if you have the best of vision, you still could have increased intraocular eye pressure or other glaucoma risk factors that are only detectable with annual eye exams.

3. Family history is the only risk factor.

If no one in your family has glaucoma, it doesn't necessarily mean you won't develop the disease. While family history is caused significant vision loss. On the other hand, angle-closure glaucoma is a much rarer form and has symptoms, such as headache, nausea and hazy vision, that develop very quickly.

5. Blindness is inevitable.

The vast majority of people who are diagnosed with glaucoma when they are not yet blind never go blind. If you are diagnosed with glaucoma, you can increase your chances of maintaining sight and enjoying a full and healthy life by seeing your eye care professional regularly and following your prescribed treatment regimen.

Annual Summit brings patients together

To help patients diagnosed with glaucoma and their loved ones better understand the disease and the latest progress against it, the Glaucoma Research Foundation will host its second annual Glaucoma Patient Summit on Saturday, Nov. 7. This year's gathering is a virtual event due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

one risk factor, there are many others. The bottom line is anyone could develop glaucoma.

4. Glaucoma symptoms are consistent and easy to notice.

Glaucoma is a group of blindness-causing diseases and has several forms, each with varying symptoms. The two most prevalent forms – open-angle glaucoma and angle-closure glaucoma – do not show up in the same ways. As mentioned, open-angle glaucoma does not become noticeable until it has Hosted by Dr. Williams, the event will highlight advances in treatment options and offer practical information to help patients understand and live with glaucoma. Speakers include leading glaucoma specialists, patients and caregivers. Tickets are available at glaucoma.org/patient.
